

Act 4 quote

“Death lies on her like an untimely frost...”

Lord Capulet: Act IV Scene v

This quote was said by Lord Capulet in act four scene five. This quote was said the morning after Juliet took the sleeping potion to make her family think that she was died. This basically means that death can hit at any moment and it will never lift from the person that it has infected. This is important to the play because we know that she isn't dead and that Romeo would come to the scene of her death and kill himself unknowing that his love was just in a deep slumber. When Juliet wakes she finds him dead and she ends up really killing herself. Death is a thing that no one in the world can escape. This is a quote that will never change because no one in the world past, present and future will ever be able to escape death.
